Our town,
F.H.S.,
Students, faculty, administration.

You, me,
us.

"Fairfield, Iowa?"

"Yes, population 9500
about halfway between Burlington and Ottumwa on highway 34."

Smalltown USA?

"Our high school?
Fairfield Senior High,
about 650 Students,
on Broadway street."

"Oh."

Oh? No . . . not quite, for that is the external skeleton of Fairfield, of F.H.S., of us.

A deeper probing reveals the core,
the heart,
each intricate gear so vital to the machinery of the timepiece.

Change in our town takes time
and sometimes it comes slow.

On summer evenings we grow dizzy circling the square
on motorcycles and souped up cars.
In seventh grade, we played "Honey do ya love me?" and attended "Doctor Zhivago" en masse.

Security means a guy's class ring wrapped with fuzzy angora.
We nominate Homecoming queens . . .

And.

We ponder the question of our existence and even life itself.
We detest the meaningless stink
of the Viet Nam War,
and demand equal rights.
The dress code fades
in the light of looser standards, and the mercury bubble
of communications rises
until it breaks.
Students, faculty, and administration join forces to meet the challenge and mend the ever fluctuating thermometer, if only to have it break again in the future . . .

We have good times,
We have bad.

Apathy infects an evergrowing wound and spreads, leaving few untouched.
We "do our own thing"
in blue jeans and grubbies, declaring the world a "farce."
Conforming to nonconformity.
We work and sacrifice
to make the "A" Honor Roll, and we get "high" on the joy in the face of a retarded child.

The world has not spared us,
we are not so different . . .

Change in our town takes time,
and sometimes it comes slow.
But we have been challenged
by the world,
and our response has been change.

Student Life

Our town, . . . is Fairfield, Iowa, population approximately 9500, in southeast Iowa. It is the home of a number of industries and Parsons College. We have 5 elementary schools and one junior high school.

Occasionally, we experience controversy in our community. Everyone was interested in the 1971 election of city council members. But soon, the election was over and things again returned to the normal state.

Sometimes people, especially the youth, complain that Fairfield is boring. They say that on weekends there is nothing to do but drive around the square. Others disagree. They say that there are plenty of things to do if you want to look hard enough.

Yes, our town is a mixture of many, many people, faces, and personalities. But together, they form our town. . . Fairfield.

"Many Moons" was the production for children's theater made by the Class of '74.

The fantasy centered around the story of Princess Lenore's illness. Various members of the kingdom attempted to discover her trouble. But only with the help of the court jester was the problem finally revealed, she wished to acquire the moon. Her father, the king, ordered his wise men to get her the moon, but they could not even agree on it's size or substance. Once again the court jester came to the rescue, at the same time adding the philosophy of "Many Moons". He suggested that the moon is what each person believes it to be.

Voting for the 1971 Homecoming Queen prompted the student body into the homecoming spirit and led them into color day and "tennies" day. Thursday night's bonfire skit, featuring an original episode of "Let's Make A Deal", was sponsored by the Troyettes. The cheerleaders and pompom girls sparked further enthusiasm which climaxed as Coach Smith crowned Colleen Bush as Homecoming Queen.

As is traditional, the Friday afternoon pep rally began in the auditorium. After the death of the Demon Devil the parade moved to Central Park. Guest speakers, Sam Childs and Coach Smith, promoted Trojan spirit and predicted a victory. For the second year in a row the Class of 72 was announced as the float contest winner with their version of "Last Rites for a Demon."

Homecoming activities came to a joyous conclusion as the Trojans blanked Washington, 14-0, for their first victory of the year.

The Trojan victory led to a jubilant homecoming dance in the high school gymnasium. Guests entered through a starlit tunnel opposite the queen's throne. Highlighting the theme, "Days of Future Past", was a beautiful mural designed by student, Jeff Ward. It featured the zodiac sign of the queen surrounded by the remaining signs of the zodiac.

Queen Colleen Bush and her court and escorts were introduced during intermission, followed by the traditional grand march. A large turnout of students and alumni enjoyed the music of "Ivory Coast", ending the 1971 homecoming.

This year the FHS Drama Department traveled to Williamsburg and Iowa City where they performed at District and State Large Group, respectively.

The one act play, "Trifles," not only received a Division I rating, but also earned "Outstanding Performance" awards for Susie Egli and Martha Sloca. The story centered around the mysterious murder of Mr. West. The dilemma was finally solved with the clues discovered by two elderly women, Mrs. Peters and Mrs. Hale. Rounding out the cast were the sheriff, county attorney, and farmer Hale, who accused Mrs. West of murdering her husband.

"Feathertop" earned a Division I rating for the Reader's Theatre group. Eight cast members presented the story of Feathertop, the lonely scarecrow who was changed into a human being by a witch. He soon discovered that the world of human beings was not better than his cornfield.

Dressed in fashions ranging from hot pants to formals to blue jeans, couples attended the annual Sweetheart Dance.

"Nostalgia--Yours, Mine and Ours" was the theme for the annual affair held February 4. Music was provided by the rock group "Bamboo" from Waterloo.

Amidst decorations fashioned by Quill staff members, Steve Burns and Karol Condon were crowned as king and queen.

In keeping with the theme, decorations doubled as entertainment. Old movies flashed on the walls and large posters of comic-book characters and movie stars hung from the ceiling. Those attending were further entertained by the huge heart which formed the entrance. Baby pictures of each candidate decorated its surface.

Hailing from Monchengladbach, West Germany, Harriet von Lambsdorff arrived in the USA on August 27, 1971. After touring New York, she arrived in Fairfield on August 31.

Harriet lived with 3 families during her stay. The Cornell Clarkes were her first family. In December she moved to the Lewis Stoneking home, and in the spring Harriet joined the Erwin Huneke family.

During her 9-month stay, Harriet enjoyed her experiences, one of which was the American rodeo. She traveled to Des Moines to see the productions of "Hair" and "Jesus Christ Superstar". During the Christmas break she traveled to Washington, D. C. with the Stonekings. She was also active in Speakers' Club and the state speech contest.

During the 1971 summer, Joni Young spent six weeks in Japan as a Rotary Exchange student. Joni lived with five families spending the remainder of her time in hotels in such cities as Osake, Tokyo, and Kyoto. Most of her families belonged to YES, which is very active in Japan.

Joni's departure was in July and she returned to the States on August 31. Some of her experiences included eating various Japanese dishes such as raw fish, eel, and seaweed; she also adopted the custom of sleeping on the floor on mats.

As Joni recalled her experiences, she emphasized the friendliness of the Japanese people and how her trip had increased her understanding of another culture.

Terri Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hartman, spent the year in Vitumhof, Germany as a Rotary exchange student.

Her family, the Manfred Rhodiuses, included two sisters, one of which spent a year in North English, Iowa. During her stay, Terri visited many cities and took a boat trip on the Rhine.

School required a great deal of Terri's time as she studied 12 different subjects. She relaxed by riding the family's horses. Terri returned to the USA in May, a fluent speaker of German.

1.-Terri's German family: Deate, Manfred Rhodius, Rose Marie Rhodius, Carin and the family dog Frigia. Her other sister, Vera, was away at boarding school at the time of the picture. 2.-Spare time activities call for a ride on the family horses. 3.-Terri found the German countryside to be excellent grounds for her horseback riding.

Describing her homeland as "the land of smiles", Samruay Prakobsak spent the year in the Fairfield community as part of the FAS program. While here, the petit girl made her home with the Leonard Buch family.

Sam enjoyed the many activities of farm life and found school to be quite different from her own where rules are very strict and all students were required to wear uniforms.

When she returns to Thailand, Samruay plans to enter a school for teachers and she hopes her experiences in the United States help her to form a basis for a comparison of the two systems.

As an exchange student on the Youth For Understanding program, Diana Morgan spent her summer '71 in Keuruu, Finland, in the home of the Ilpo Nikulas. Liisa, her 18 year-old sister, was the only English-speaking member of her family so Diana soon found that sign language and a few Finnish words made communication easier. easier.

Halfway through her stay, she visited Russia with the other American students staying in Finland. During her stay in Leningrad, her favorite trip was a night at the ballet.

She has resolved to someday return to Russia and Finland. "The pines and lakes of Finland are like a magnet, always pulling at you to return."

As the first foreign student on the Youth for Understanding program, Tommi Kurittu spent the year at the Frederic Flinspach home, RFD 4.

Besides his native language, Tommi spoke English and Swedish fluently and some French. Citing music as one of his favorites, Tommi attended "Hair" in Des Moines and several rock concerts in Iowa City.

Tommi found the population differences between here and his native home of Helsinki, Finland, to be quite large. Tommi said, "I was surprised to see how American society is based much more on time and the clock."

Despite cold rain and strong winds, over 550 community residents participated in the first Walk for Mankind on May 7. Organized to raise funds for Project Concern, the Walk culminated twelve weeks of planning by approximately forty students and adults. Mrs. Neil Johnson headed the organization, and was assisted by student directors Liz Fulton and Marty Holmes.

The project was instigated by the visit of Dr. James Turpin to the school in December. As founder of Project Concern, he explained the program was entirely privately funded and gave medical assistance to such under-developed nations as Viet Nam and Hong Kong, and in the American Appalachia and Navajoland. The local Walk committee later decided to keep twenty per cent of the profits for three community projects and sent the remainder to Project Concern.

An adaptation of Edgar Lee Masters "Spoon River Anthology" was presented to the community as the drama department's spring production. Amid a setting of tombstones, a cast of thirteen portrayed nearly seventy characters. Each actor became various people from the old town of Spoon River and recited a portion of their life story.

Masters famous book is a collection of free verse poetry supposedly taken from the gravestones of the late inhabitants of Spoon River. The mood of the play changed from despair to comedy to wisdom as the ghosts recalled their downfalls.

Vocal accompaniment and dancing provided a novel approach to the play. Folk singing actors and actresses and guitarists added to the backgrounds of individual characters.

SPRING

Mr. Robert Glocke designed the set and lighting; the play was under the direction of Mrs. Robert Pattison.

Cast members included: Dave Bell, Clare Beltramea, Dan Davis, Joel Dilley, Susie Egli, Jim Edgeton, Jon Hammond, Liz Fulton, Susan Lamb, Patti Moylan, Debbie O'Brien, Martha Sloca, Carl Wilburn.

1-The ghosts of Spoon River prepare to return to tell their life stories. 2-Haunting folk music added to the nostalgic mood of Spoon River. 3-A young woman recalls the tragedy of her life. 4-Patti Moylan and Dave Bell pause in their portrayal of two disillusioned people. 5-Martha Sloca and Jim Edgeton as two young lovers sadly remembering their tragedy.

The "Best Dressed Male Female" award highlighted Dress Sloppily Day 1972. Charlie Adam received the newly established award for his original costume.

In preparation for the day's calamities, students collected everything and anything they could find that would result in an outlandish outfit.

During homeroom, students were "fined" for the clothing they wore.

The money collected went to the AFS fund. After selecting homeroom candidates, the student body met in assembly to choose the celebrites of the day. Debbie Harward was choosen as the most sloppily dressed girl, with John Watson claiming the honors for the boys. Mr. Ralph Messerli took the reign as the most sloppily dressed teacher.

Under the new procedures established in the previous, student body elections were held to elect the student leaders for the 1972-72 school year.

In a student body assembly prospective nominees who had obtained twenty-five signatures presented their plans, views, and issues. Sophomores and juniors voted for the four candidates of their choice. Richard Blough, Doug Forbes, Jon Hammond, and John Martin were chosen to campaign for the office of president.

Campaign managers were then chosen and candidates and workers lined the corridor walls with posters and banners. In parties and work sessions the preceeding night, committees planned campaigns for the traditional assembly.

Amid colorful Oriental lanterns, gardens, and a fountain, the 1972 Prom was staged, following the decorative theme of "Teahouse of the August Moon." A spurting fountain surrounded by a wishing pool and Oriental blossoms highlighted the decorations. A pagoda arched over the band; nearby an Oriental garden with lanterns and live trees provided a moment's refreshment.

The serving table was decorated in shades of red and graced with candlelabras and arrangements of fuji mums. Fortune cookies, an appropriate refreshment for the evening, were popular with many couples.

The Chancellors traveled from Omaha, Nebraska to play for the evening. The traditional Grand March was held midway through the dance and led by Mr. Iliff Leu.

CLASS OF '72

Seniors began the traditional year-end activities on Sunday, May 28 with the Baccalaureate services held in the auditorium. The Senior Choir performed two numbers after Rev. John Dilley's invocation. Rev. Dean Berg read the scripture lesson, preceding Michael Hipp's French horn solo, "Morceau de Concert" by Saint-Saens. Rev. Jonathan Simmons presented the Baccalaureate sermon, "A Step into the Universe." Nancy Smithburg sang Franck's "O Lord Most Holy" and the service was closed by Dr. R.B. Fulton as he presented the benediction. The class of '72 recessed to Mendelssohn's "War March of the Priests."

Waterworks Park was the site of the senior picnic. Hot dogs were roasted, and a bountiful array of food was prepared by the school cooks. Mr. Pearl Smith was in charge of recreational activities, which included softball, frisbee games, and a dart-throwing game.

On Thursday evening, June 1, at eight o' clock the Class of 1972 made its final appearance at the Commencement ceremonies. Held in the stadium in perfect weather, the 201 graduates marched in to the melody of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance." Senior girls carried a single red rose and all members were clad in blue-gray robes.

After Rev. Wilson Hyde delivered the invocation and the Chamber Singers performed "Precepts" by Berger, the five student speakers presented their interpretations of the class motto, an exerpt from the long poem, DESIDERATA. Speakers were: Chris Martin, Marty Holmes, Don Hill, Alan Charles, and Diana Morgan. Clare Beltramea read the entire DESIDERATA poem to the capacity audience. After diplomas were awarded by Mr. Lamansky, the Class of 1972 left the FHA stadium, and a part of themselves behind. The future and universe were theirs.

1-The class recesses from Baccalaureate services. 2-A roasting pit was prepared for the picnic. 3-Seniors stand to receive the Baccalaureate invocation. 4-5-Picnic weather was chilly, but the food was good. 6-7-The picnic offered time for talk and games.

New Curriculum Offered In Social Sciences

The Social Sciences Department revamped its curriculum extensively for the '71-72 year. What used to be full year courses have been cut into semester courses.

Although government is basically the same, a new course, Gov't and World Affairs has been added. Teachers have noted that students enjoy the course taught at varied levels.

The U.S. History course has been broken into four separate areas. History I deals with colonial times and the American Revolution; history II concerns the early nation through the Civil War; III follows the Industrial Revolution through 1920; the last course deals with the past fifty years. Each course is a semester long.

Western Civilization is a new subject covering four semester courses: World Cultures I covering China, Japan, Korea, India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, and Southeast Asia. World Cultures II covering Africa, the Mid-East, and Latin America, and two civilization courses covering western history.

One of the principles of these new semester courses is that the students do more extensive outside reading. Sociology and Family Living students take many field trips in the year.

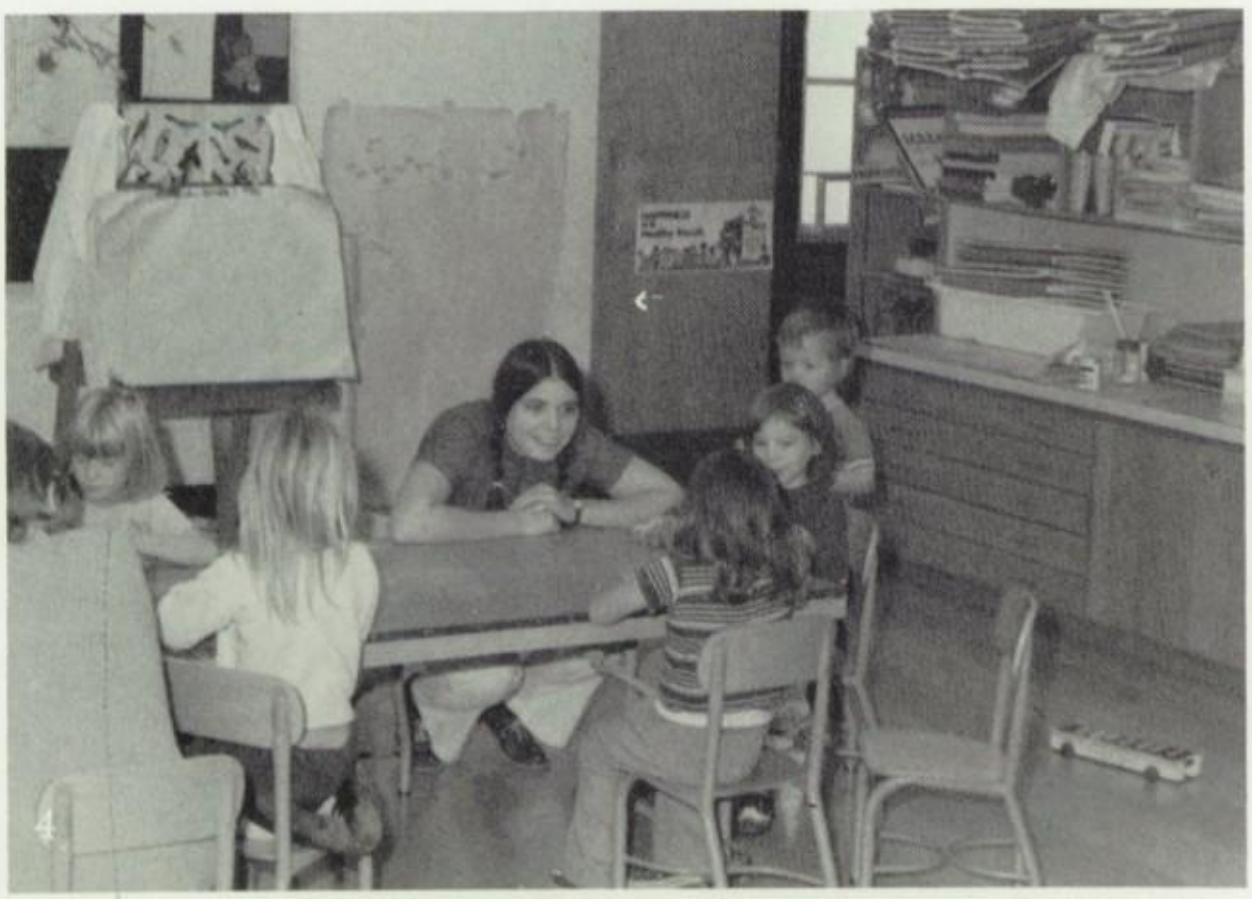
2.



1-Alvin Stone undergoes scrutiny from his Head Start charge. 2-Sociology students pose outside the Ft. Madison penitentiary. 3-Sociology students are eager to help at the Head Start classes. 4-Barb Hammes awaits a response from her young charge. 5-The new curriculum covers many aspects of American society.

Curriculum Changes Affect English Dept.

The 71-72 school year brought sweeping changes to the English and Speech departments. Except for soph English which remained a required year course, the entire system was switched to a series of semester courses. A single course from literature, speech, and writing are required for the minimum graduation requirements.

Offerings in literature ranged from a two-part study of English Lit. to various courses in poetry, short story and novels. Speech courses were designed to fulfill the levels of beginning to advanced speakers. Oral Interpretation and a Forensics class were new additions to the Speech departments. Writing courses branched into the major fields of writing: journalistic, expository, composition, and creative. Each class had individual learning materials and some participated in field projects.

I passed by-
A shriveled woman,
Hunched over her cane;
An angry black man,
Alone in the crowd;
A blind girl,
Sitting in her darkness;
The skeleton children,
Starving with the rats;
A blank-eyed boy,
Staring into nothingness;
A desperate man,
Wishing from behind his bars;
And then I passed
A pretty young girl.
We shared a "hi"
And suddenly I wished
I could go back,
Passing the others
With a gift, too-
At least a smile.
But I knew I wouldn't.

Spanish And French Are Expanded

Spanish and French are the two language courses offered at FHS. There was a major curriculum change in the French program; instead of the usual two year program, French was broken into three consecutive years of study. French I is an oral conversation course with most grammar eliminated. French II consists of more conversation and the inclusion of a cultural unit. The third year program includes a study of history, geography, and culture.

The Spanish program is divided into four consecutive year courses. Each class participates in various projects during the year. An imaginary restaraunt was held in first year classes; menus were written in Spanish and all conversation was conducted in the language. Day of the Dead was celebrated in all classes and traditional "bread of the dead" was eaten. Spanish II classes conducted a mock wedding, with members taking the various roles. Clare Beltramea, Joan McCracken, and Leigh Ann Peasley ranked in the top ten in state Spanish competition.

1-FHA students teach basics to grade school pupils. 2-3-Spanish students experience Chinese chopsticks.

Fine Arts Focuses On Art, Music

Art and Music courses are classified under Fine Arts. Music Appreciation is a semester course designed as an introduction to the literature, history, form, and style of music. Examples from the basic periods are played and students learn to distinguish the styles of different eras and composers. Music Humanities is designed for the student who is considering majoring in music. It entails a more in-depth study of the various periods, with emphasis on form and style.

Art courses are broken into five semester levels and offer development for the beginning to the advanced student. Classes have various long term projects throughout the year and are also required to submit weekly sketches and a research paper. Projects include painting, prints, drawing, sculpting, needlework, ceramics, metal-work and design, and student initiated original projects.

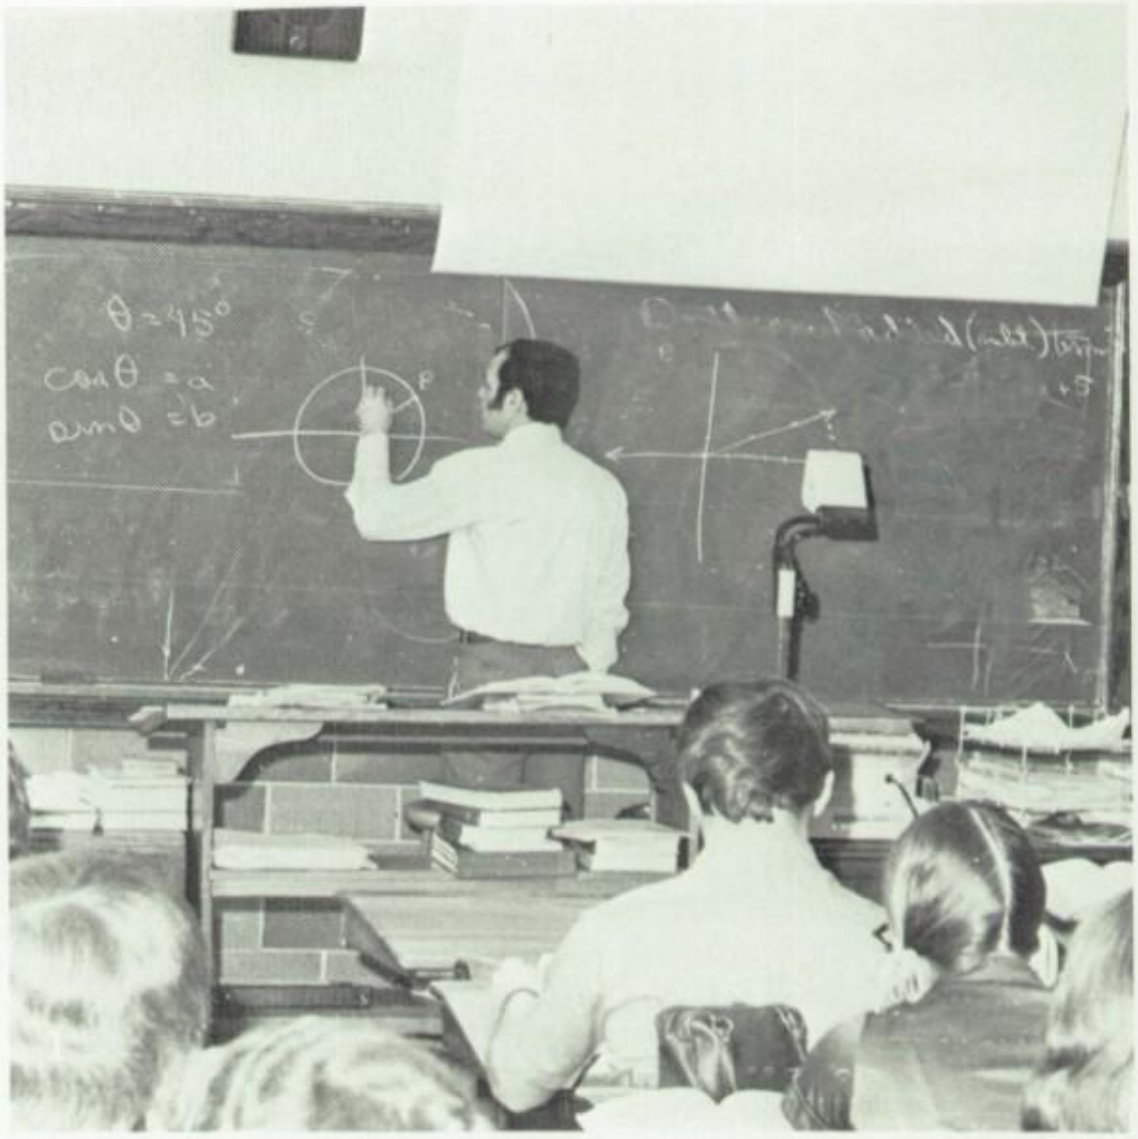
1-Lynn Ball checks measurements on her project. 2-Jeff Maple applies finishing touches to his painting. 3-Walter Schafer carefully shapes his sculpture.

Classroom Math Proves To Be Challenging

Students memorized theorems in order to prove hypotheses in geometry, putting their logical minds to work solving word problems and conquering simple geometric figures.

Algebra students expanded their math background by tackling many complicated equations. Word problems provided the ultimate test of problem solving. Graph paper was a frequent tool in plotting elipses and parabolas.

Math Analysis was an advanced course for college-bound students. They woked with number systems and used trigometric identities to solve detailed problems. A chapter on imaginery numbers introduced students to a new system of numbers.



1. Mr. White uses a unit circle to explain trigonometric functions to algebra II. students. 2. Janey Dunlevy looks determined to get an answer as she signals for help during algebra class.

Science Courses Create New Outlook Of Science World

The required biology course gave students a detailed look at living things around them. Microscopes enlarged tiny living animals for students as they made careful studies of various creatures. Films varied the routine and provided a fresh look into the wide world of biology.

Chemistry involved a great deal of laboratory experimentation in addition to the usual classroom work. Atoms, molecules and ions came under extensive investigation by students seeking to expand their basic knowledge of the atomic world. Unpleasant smells sometimes permeated the school, indicating a day of lab work for chemistry students.

The elective physics course introduced students to the physical relationships which exist in their every day lives. Measurement, mechanics, waves, and heat and electricity were the five basic areas of study. Many laboratory investigations were conducted in order to apply and reinforce information given in the text.

COE Program Combines Jobs, School Work

For the first time, on-the-job experience was introduced to the high school curriculum. The course was open to seniors interested in gaining occupational training through actual experience. Each student was enrolled in some class related to his job, as well as other academic subjects he wished to take.

A special class was held from 7:30 to 8:30 under the direction of Mr. Keith Wells. During this class COE students filled out job reports and studied materials related to their training. Students finished their academics in the morning and then proceeded to their jobs in the afternoon.

Each student received a quarterly grade from his employer and Mr. Wells. To check the student's progress, Mr. Wells discussed the student's accomplishments with his employer.

Students were paid the going wage for their work. The Cooperative Occupational Experience program gave students a good chance to develop possible job skills through on-the-job training.

Agriculture Management Emphasized

Vocational agriculture stressed subjects related to the field of agriculture.

The yearly course was offered to all students interested in the wide range of agriculture. Members were given a chance to learn modern techniques in livestock and crop production, and farm management.

During the winter months, students came inside to study tractors and small engines while working in the farm shop. They received training in farm carpentry, welding and machinery repair.

To complete the vocational agriculture course, students were required to complete either a livestock or crop project. Students kept careful records of all costs and received the profits from the projects.

1.-Vocational agriculture also entails classroom study. 2.-Mr. Keith Wells serves as coordinator of the program. 3.-Most voc-ag students are involved in the FFA program.

Curriculum Expanded In Home-Ec Class

The home economics course offered more to its students than just cooking and sewing experience.

Many times class included visits by parties outside the school. Several beauticians from Parc View Beauty College made a visit and explained various new hair styles and hair styling techniques. Another class included a visit from several youngsters as part of the Child Development course.

Other class periods included cooking basic essentials, the study of colors and fabrics, and film strips on good grooming habits and family living.

Classes Offer Practice in Office Skills

"Ready for a timing," "less than 5 errors," "try for 40 words a minute now," are common phrases you might hear coming from typing classrooms. A total of three consecutive typing courses were offered to the students.

Typing I was designed to teach the student the basic fundamentals of typing. Students learned the correct fingering placement, typing techniques, and general basic rules. Timings were taken and students were encouraged to increase speed and accuracy.

The first four weeks of typing II were spent in review of correct fingering and techniques, with the remainder of the semester stressing the production of mailable work. Students increased their straight-copy skill by typing such business papers as reports, rough draft copies and script copies.

Law Course Stages Mock Trial

Bookkeeping and commercial law were two courses offered to senior students.

Commercial law was designed to cover everyday legal problems encountered in daily living. It largely concerned the law as it relates to the individual with such units as "The Law and You", "Consumer Problems," "Money Management," and "Housing." As part of their classroom study, commercial law students held a mock trial dealing with the modern-day problem of draft evasion.

The bookkeeping course was also offered to seniors. It was designed to teach a student how to keep a complete set of accurate records by learning to balance assets and liabilities. Students spent a majority of classroom time working with sample problems to increase their skill and accuracy.

Shorthand was a third elective in the business department. This course offered to both juniors and seniors, taught members the techniques of shorthand. Students first developed basic fundamentals, then increased their skills and accuracy with timings.

3.- Nick Gill is put on trial in the question of draft evasion. 4.- Debi Cox utilizes her skills in classroom work. 5.- Developing improvement requires many hours of practice for Kathryn Hoyle.

Practical Use Is Emphasized In Shop Class

The industrial arts courses offered at FHS cover a wide range of subjects and were designed to give students experience in possible vocational areas.

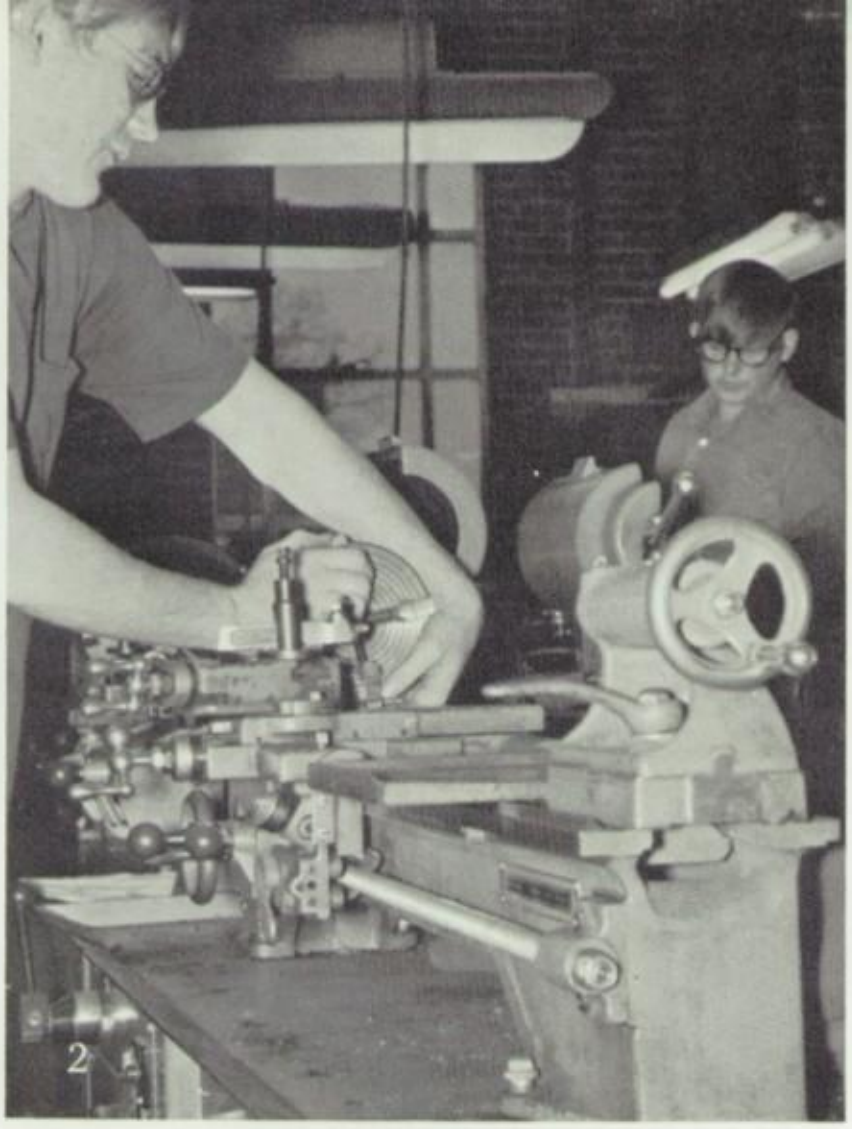
Introduction to the many different areas of industrial arts was the purpose of the exploratory shop class. The course was offered for students who had developed no special interest in industrial arts.

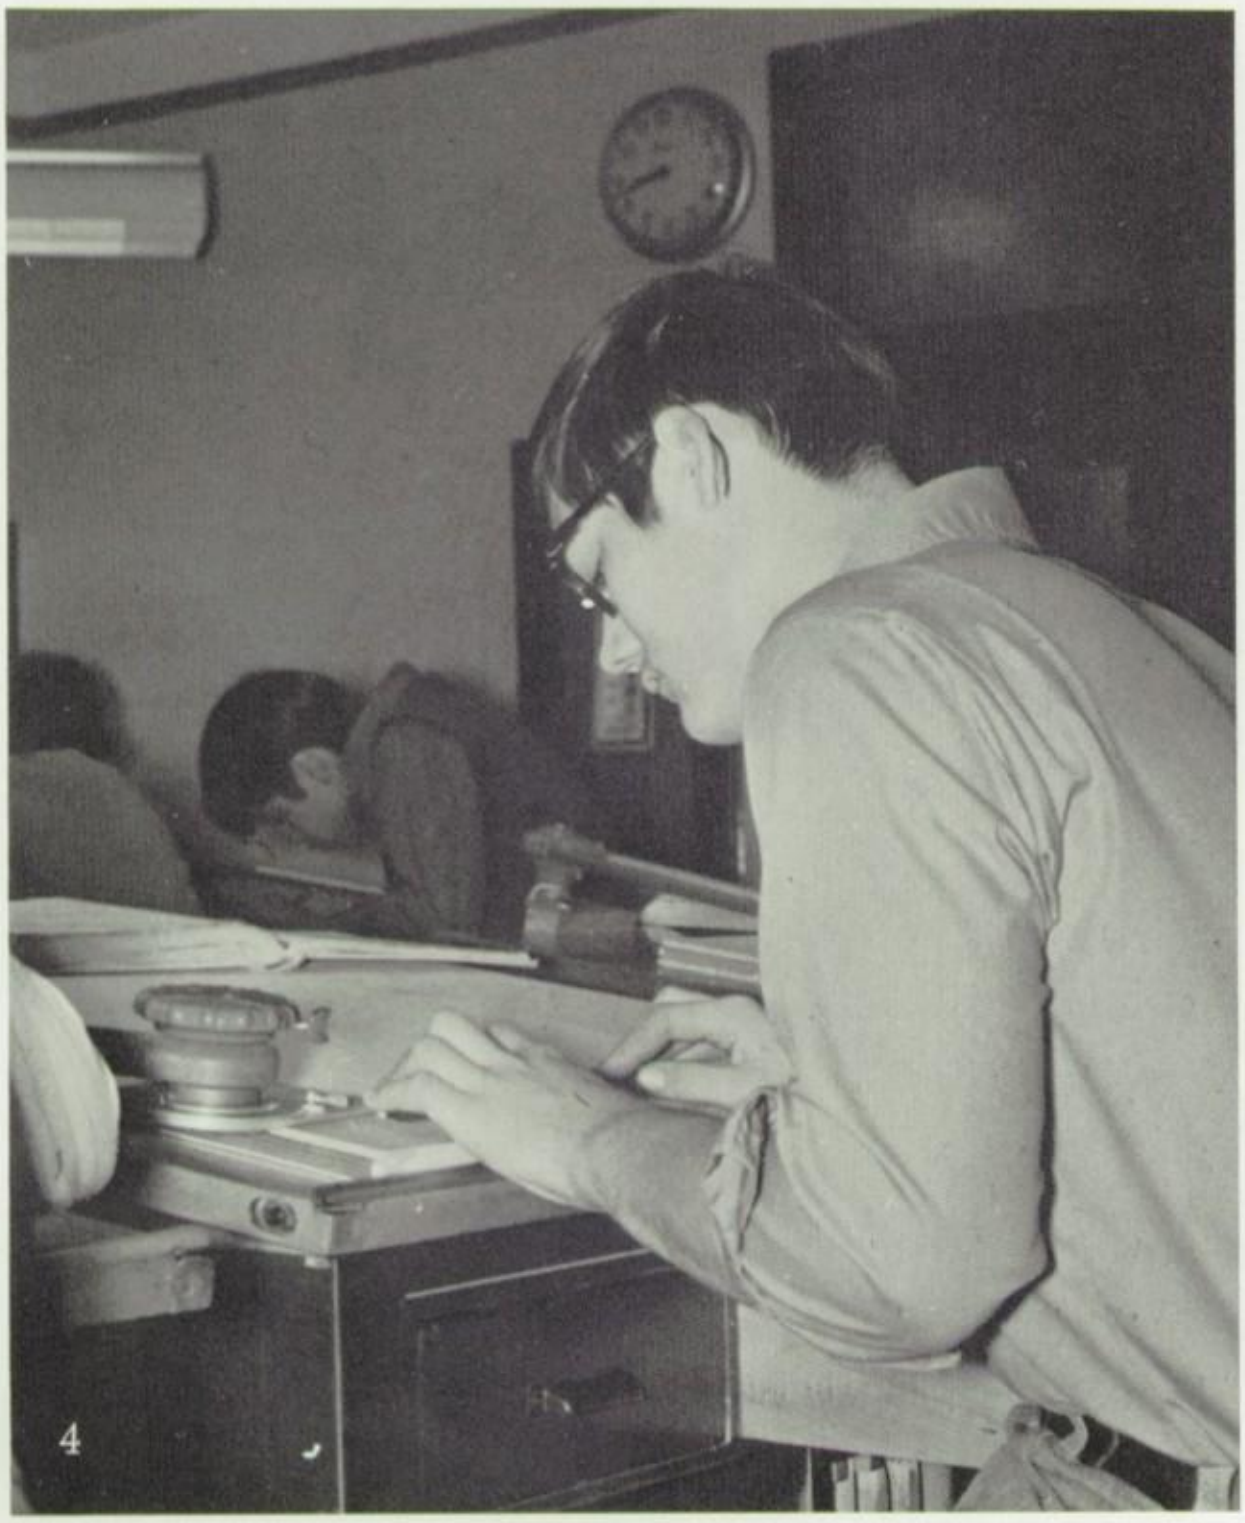
Students who wished to improve their engine mechanic skills took small engines class. They brought engines from home to repair and study. Students tore down the engines, fixed the malfunctioning parts, and then reassembled all the components into a workable machine.

Three semesters of engineering drawing were offered with Mr. Paul Franklin as instructor. These courses gave many students the chance to lay foundations for further drafting work.

Learning how to use machine wood-working tools was the primary purpose behind the machine wood-working courses. Students began with a semester course and had the option of moving into the yearly one in which students built projects of their own design.

Vocational industrial shop met for three hours each day. Students were able to work with many machines used by industry, thus gaining valuable experience for possible job opportunities.





1.-Mike Hipp applies glue to a board as Dale Mineart advises. 2.-Tom Nelson makes some adjustments on his metal lathe. 3.-Mike Adams works on improving his accuracy on the metal lathe. 4.-Lonnie Myers uses a drawing machine to speed work and improve accuracy in engineering drawing.

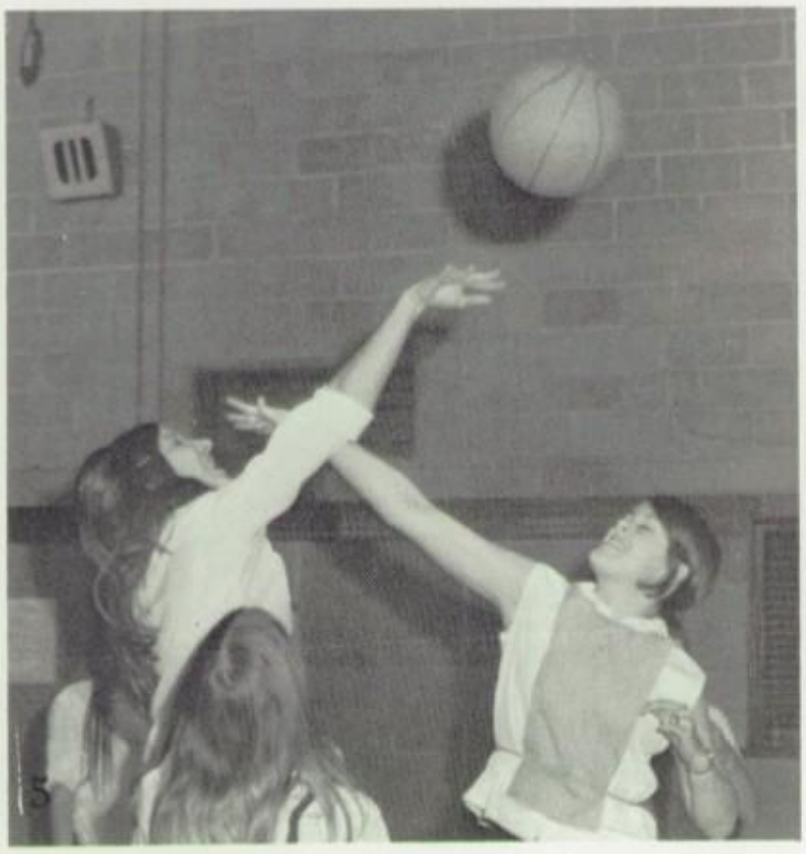
Drivers' Ed. Emphasizes Basic Skills

Students were required to have at least 6 hours of practical driving experience and 30 hours of classroom experience to pass the drivers education course. Under the direction of Mr. Herb Justmann and Mr. Curt Hanson, students learned the basic techniques in addition to good driving theory.

Defensive driving was especially stressed with demonstrations of good driving practices and attitudes. Various subjects were discussed in detail including: insurance, car maintenance, and the effects of alcohol.

Several outside medias were used to supplement the text. Films and film strips presented the working components of a car and trained students to watch for potential dangers. A variety of special tests were offered to the students to acquaint them with their driving potential.

1-Linda Czerwinski assumes the driver's seat with confidence. 2-Head-on parking is a skill to be mastered by the beginning driver. 3-Mr. Herb Justmann, drivers' ed. instructor, pauses for a moment's prayer before taking to the road with his next student.



Student Athletes Receive Badges

The introduction of the new sport of ball gymnastics headlined girls' physical education classes. Girls learned various techniques and movements, then broke into small groups to compose routines. After several sessions of practice, they presented the routines to their classmates.

Similar sports such as volleyball, archery, basketball, tennis and golf rounded out the remainder of the year for the girls.

While meeting in similar biweekly meetings, boys participated in such sports as basketball, wrestling, baseball, and gymnastics. Special "early-bird" classes. were held for those students involved in the COE program.

During the spring, students participated in the President's Physical Fitness Tests. Those who qualified in the respective percentiles, were awarded badges.

1.- Quick action by a team member brings a point during coed volleyball. 2.-Good alignment is a major step in perfecting archery skills. 3.-Donna Wingate asks for team support. 4.-Dave Jensen prepares to serve. 5.-Jump ball technique proves to be difficult for basketball beginners.

Quill & Scroll Selects 18 For Journalism Honors, Achievement

Quill and Scroll, the national high school honorary journalism society, initiated eighteen members during a May ceremony. Candidates were chosen from the newspaper and yearbook staffs and had to be a junior or senior to qualify for membership.

Other requirements considered were rank in the upper third of the class and the accomplishment of superior writing skills on a journalism staff. Staff members were recommended by their respective advisors. Mrs. Marker and Mrs. Pettit were sponsors of Quill and Scroll.

Honor Society Selects Members

Thirty-four members were admitted into Torch Club, the National Honor Society for outstanding students of high schools across the country. The club held initiation ceremonies twice during the year, admitting only seniors in the fall, and both juniors and seniors in the spring. Members were chosen on the basis of their leadership, scholarship, character, and service.

1972 Quill Adopts Novel Style, Design

Quill '72 incorporated several innovations in yearbook design. Spot color was used in the introduction section and varying layout styles were used throughout the book. The introductory passages were written entirely by co-editor Dawn Bentley.

The annual Sweetheart Dance was the major project of the staff and required long hours of detailed planning. This was the last time the Quill staff will sponsor Sweetheart.

Co-editor Dawn Bentley attended a summer journalism workshop in Iowa City. Both co-editors traveled to Chicago for the National High School Journalism Convention over Thanksgiving vacation.

Student Council Strives For Change, Student Support

As part of Student Councils many activities, members were active in a wide variety of areas. They traditionally sponsored Dress Sloppily Day and Homecoming activities. The organization also sponsored several money raising projects. The Coke machine was one source of funds for projects such as workshops and the AFS program. In addition, they collected money for the Red Cross and Muscular Distrophy.

Because Student Council is affilated with the State and National Association of School Councils, members attended various workshops and meetings. The state meeting was held in Des Moines Mary Lou Graf represented Fairfield at the district convention. During the summer, Alan Charles and Janey Dunlevy attended a workshop in Cedar Falls.

Serving as Student Council officers were Alan Charles, president; Jim Boyd, vice president; Janey Dunlevy, secretary; and Becky Maddix, treasurer.

Student Journalists Earn All-American

In addition to publishing TROY BANNER bi-weekly in the FAIRFIELD DAILEY LEDGER, student journalists took on several additional projects and excursions.

In the fall, the entire staff traveled to the college campus at Drake in Des Moines to attend the IHSPA state convention. They returned with various ideas and concepts. Four students also attended the NSPA convention in Chicago with sponsors Mrs. Dian Marker and Mrs. Mary Petit.

As a new money making idea, mmebers of both journalism staffs sold Trojan decals to the student body and townspeople.

Great Successes For Speakers' Club

Boasting one of the finest contest records in its history, the '71-72 Speakers' Club left a shining mark on the FHA halls of victory. The greatest triumph came in March at the State Speech Contest, hosted for the second consecutive year in Fairfield. The local speech team walked away with a record 27 division I's, beating last year's previous high by four. At the same time eleven speakers received the coveted "Outstanding Performance" award.

Another honor to the club occured at the Forensics State Contest in Iowa City. Patti Moylan was selected as the champion television speaker of the entire state. Larry Wohlers was elected to the post of Speaker of the House during the two-day term of the Forensics Student Senate.

Drama Workshops Fill Busy Year For Thespian Troupe

The State Thespian meeting in October, Local Drama Workshop, and area III Thespian Conference were the highlights of this year for Troupe 544.

About 20 members attended the State Thespian Meeting in Cedar Rapids Oct 23-24. Officers were elected and each school presented a portion of "Thurber Carnival," a collection of works by James Thurber.

A Drama Workshop was presented by the Iowa State University Theatre: Department of Speech at FHS December 18. The program consisted of 3 units of instruction.

State troupe officer, Karol Condon, organized the area III conference held Feb. 17. The Fairfield troupe hosted the event which included 115 students from 7 schools.

Banquets Highlight Troyettes' Year

Girls with a 'B' average were eligible for membership in Troyettes. Seven girls were chosen from each class. To promote school spirit, Troyettes presented a skit at the Homecoming bonfire and posted scores for each athletic event.

Troyettes sold concessions at every home football and basketball game to finance their two athletic banquets. The fallbanquet honored fall and summer sports, the male faculty and administration. The spring banquet honored winter sports, girls' athletics, and the entire faculty.

Women's Liberation Invades Letterclub

Initiation ceremonies held twice during the year enabled student athletes to become members of Letterclub. In order to become a member, each initiate was required to pass a faculty board interview, written interview, letter in at least one varsity sport each year, and pass iniation ceremonies.

Women's liberation found its way into the membership with the formation of Girls' Letterclub. Standards were set up with each girl required to earn a certain number of points to receive her letter. Cross country, gymnastics, track, pom-pom girls, financial managers, and cheerleading participants were given the chance to letter.

FCA Goes To Oregon

In August of 1971 the Fellowship of Christian Athletes attended a one week national camp in Ashland, Oregon. 16 boys, the Ralph Messerlis and Richard Reevers toured many parks in the West, camping along the way. They visited Yellowstone, the Badlands, Crater Lake, Lake Tahoe, the Grand Tetons, and the Pacific Coastal Drive. After their return from camp, the boys spoke to various local groups about their experiences.

Cheerleaders' Goal: Build School Spirit

There is a lot more to being a cheerleader than simply cheering at athletic events. Cheerleaders keep busy with workshops, money-making projects decorating the school halls, the boys' lockeroom, and buses, organizing pep assemblies, and Homecoming activities.

During the fall, Fairfield hosted a National Cheerleading Association conference. Two representatives came and taught the girls new routines; later, a cheerleading competition was held and Fairfield was awarded first place.

As part of a summer volunteer project cheerleaders painted house numbers on curbs in town. Money-making projects for the year included a dance, selling Homecoming pennants, buttons, sponsoring pep buses and bake sales.

Pom-Pom Girls Use Precision And Dance In Their Routines

Adding to the "Trojan spirit," pom-pom girls performed their routines during game halftimes and pep assemblies. In addition they performed at the Homecoming bonfire.

As part of their summer activities, the Pom-pom girls, together with the cheerleaders, attended a cheerleading camp at Parsons College.

During the year the girls had several money making projects including selling candy, sponsoring bake sales, a car wash and chili supper. Prior to Halloween, the squad sold "insurance" to the local stores. If any of the establishments had soaped windows, the girls cleaned them the next day in payment for the insurance purchase.

To utilize their profits, the pom-pom girls purchased two new outfits. One was composed of an orange knit over a black leotard. The second also used the black leotard under a bibbed skirt of orange corduroy.

Camera Club Works To Raise Money; Enters Photo Contest

The main purpose of the camera club, which has taken on the name Shutter Bugs, is to improve photography skills in picture taking, development, and enlargement. Members were allowed to work in the dark room before and after school, during study halls, and on Saturdays. During meetings demonstrations were given by photography experts and some of the more experienced members.

In order to buy the chemicals and dark room equipment required, camera club required some means of raising funds. One dollar in dues was collected from each member, refreshments were sold at the games, and a bake sale was held in October.

The Shutter Bugs also had several social affairs and activities. They entered the salon contest. Members took and developed their own black and white pictures and sent them in to be judged.

Hi-Y Intramural Program Grows In Scope, Popularity

A broadened intramural program offered Hi-Y members a greater chance to participate in extra-curricular activities. Expanded from the traditional softball, football, and basketball sports, this year's program included volleyball, wrestling, bowling, and tennis. The competition between organized teams was stiff and all sports were received with wide enthusiasm.

One of the more popular all-school activities semi-sponsored by Hi-Y was an informal jam session. Several students read or sang original works to a student audience.

A child was also sponsored to Camp Sunnyside through the Easter Seal Society.

FHA Is Involved In Community Events

Girls who have taken one semester of home economics were eligible to join Future Homemakers of America. Meetings were held every two weeks to plan events and discuss topics concerning homemaking.

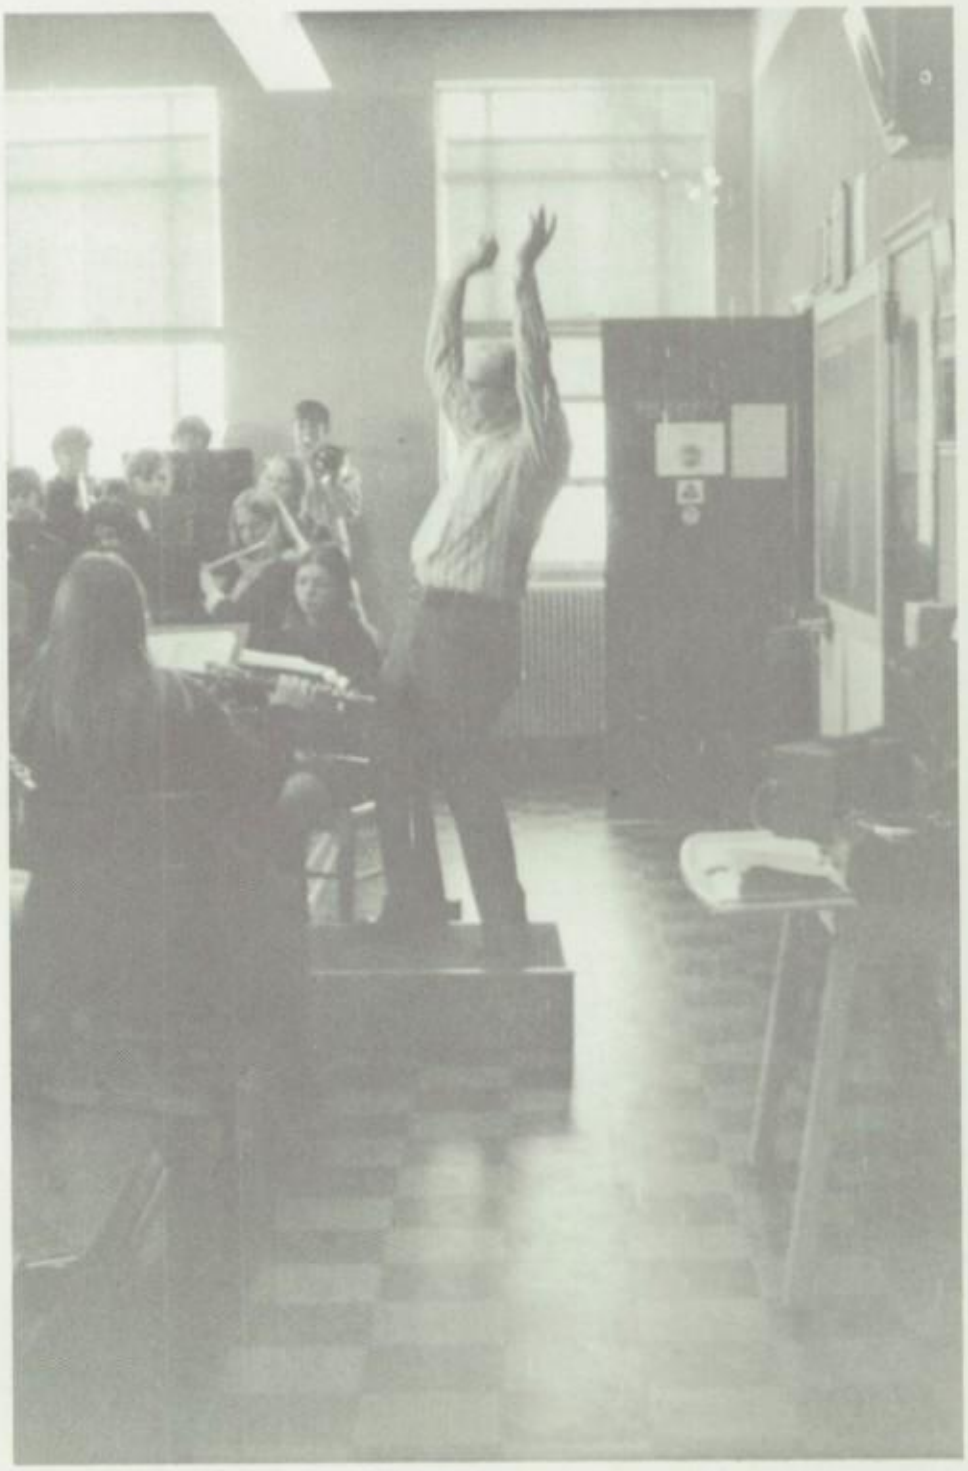
Mexico Adventure Sparks Band Year

Band members spent many hours in extra practice as they prepared for a unique experience--a four day visit to Mexico City.

The band left Fairfield in June, traveling as the official band of the Iowa Lions' Club. The Fairfield students marched in the International Lions' Club Parade through downtown Mexico City and also played for several functions. Band members also had time to discover Mexico City on their own.

During the fall and spring the band emphasized marching technique as they prepared for parades and performances during football half-times.

The band performed at two concerts during the winter season. The first emphasized pop music while the second was composed of more traditional songs. The latter concert also featured a number of solos and small groups.



Stamina and enthusiasm are primary requirements of a good band leader.

Instrumental Groups And Baton Twirlers Enliven Activities

In addition to the concert band, instrumentalists also participated in several small groups. Enthusiasm at pep assemblies, basketball games and wrestling meets was heightened by the pop selections provided by the pep band. Members were chosen in the spring of the previous year.

A stage band, organized by Mr. Prill with the interest of several students, was among the more popular of the small groups. The members performed jazz, pop, and contemporary music plus sounds of the "Big Band" era. They played at a band concert and at a special student assembly.

Senior Choir, composed of both juniors and seniors, studied a great variety of music. Their repertoire consisted of selections ranging from "Eleanor Rigby" to "Psalm 150." Double choir music was also studied and performed. Even though practice was usually on the agenda for the day, students were also provided with valuable background in musical history by Mr. Russell Goodell, choir director.

Senior choir performed at both winter and spring concerts. They sang music from the Baroque, Classical, and Modern periods.

Choir members also took part in the Southeast Seven Conference Festival of Choirs in Fort. Madison. Many members were in various other ensembles and groups throughout the contest season.

Sophs Present Various Concerts

In the continous search for improvement, Sophomore Choir took on a varied and exciting repertoire on music. Performing at both concerts, the choir practiced diligently in order to perform a rendition of songs ranging from Di Lassa's "O Bella Fusa", to a medley by the "Carpenters".

Their fall program included both sacred and secular music, as well as spiritual, pop, and patriotic songs. In addition, many individual members of Sophmore Choir performed in musical groups for the state music contest. Great improvements were exhibited by the sophs as they prepared for next year's graduation to Senior Choir.

Small Groups Aid In Musical Events

It was another successful year for the Chamber Singers as they participated in numerous local activities as well as the high school concerts. The twenty three member choir displayed a high degree of versatility in their performances through out the year.

In addition to two concerts, the Chamber Singers performed at Commencement and received a Division I rating at the State Music Contest.

The Girls' Glee Club also performed successfully at both of the vocal concerts. The nine girls practiced twice a week and developed a variety of songs.

The 1971 baseball season ended on a successful note as the Trojans closed with an overall record of 25-8, and captured the conference title with a record of 14-2. The successful season could be partly attributed to the fact that Fairfield had 5 hitters over .300, with Mike Johnson (.354), Roger Carter (.346), Steve Perry (.327), Mike Myers (.311), and Jim Hoskins (.301). Fairfield's pitching also turned in an excellent year. Steve Perry led with 5 shutouts, two of them no-hitters and a 0.76 ERA.

The 1971 football season closed on a somewhat disappointing note for the Trojans with a season record of 3 wins and 6 losses. Although they did not come up with a very impressive record, the Trojans were not completely outplayed. After the first seven games the team had a record of 2 and 5, defeated by a total of only 12 points in the five losses. Coach Smith pointed out, "no one was running over us; we were just beaten by a few points."

Illness seemed to be the team's major problem, disrupting practices at the start of the season. As a result of this, the defensive team came out the stronger group. Marty Encouragement often comes from the coach.

A record of 1 win and 5 losses rounded out the season for Coach Doug Berry's sophomore gridders. Although the season began on a happy note with a 21-7 defeat over Washington, the sophomore team compiled a shaky record in meeting their remaining opponents. The Little Trojans scored a total of 27 points while their opponents stacked up 110. In the outlook for next year, varsity coach Pearl Smith predicted good work from the '72 sophomores.

Serving with Coach Berry was Herb Justman, assitant coach.

Captain John Simmons was the season's out standing player. At the end of the season, Simmons was chosen Most Valuable Player and given the Rick Creek Memorial Trophy. Other honors he received were: First Team All-Conference, and Honorable Mention All-State. He also set many school records for scoring and rebounding.

Wrestlers wait for the signal in the referee's position.

Inexperience resulted in a disappointing season for the 1971-72 varsity wrestling squad. Several lettermen failed to return to the squad and their positions were filled by inexperienced sophomores.

The grapplers ended the year with a 3-8 record overall and a 2-4 record in conference action. They sent four men to district competition: Don Goehring, Dennis Bisgard, Don Kaska and Mike Kessel. Of the four, Don Gehring won a first round decision, only to be defeated by the wrestler who later went on to become state champion.

Don Kaska was titled as the most aggressive man on the squad, and Mike Myers was named most improved wrestler of the season. Coach White described Myers as having a "smorgasbord" of take downs and a good deal of ability.

It was a slow season for Fairfield runners as they failed to come out the top team in any of their eight meets.

Highlighting the season were fine performances by John Simmons who placed in every meet in which he competed and who earned the most team points. John also broke two school records with the 60 yard high hurdles in 7.9, and the 120 yard low hurdles in 13.5.

In addition, John traveled by invitation to the Drake relays. In awards assembly he was presented the Everett Johnson trophy for the Most Outstanding Runner.

The Trojans best performances came at the Washington Relays where Fairfield placed fifth. May 2nd, the Trojans hosted the Trojan Relays with eight strong teams in contention for first place honors.

In its third year of existence, girls' sports rapidly gained both improvement and enthusiasm.

The gymnastics team started out on a successful note with 96-42 victory over Muscatine in a dual meet. Through out the remainder of the season, the girls showed that great improvement had been gained by their experience. They ended their season with a second victory over Muscatine.

All members participated in the tough district competition at Cedar Rapids. With over 40 girls in each event, two Fairfield girls took places, Lynda Kruse, 5th place in vaulting and Janey Dunlevy, 6th in the trampoline. Fairfield's leading scorers for the season were Janey Dunlevy, Jan Carpenter, Lynda Best, and Cindy Dunlevy.

Hollie Roettger shows perfect form as she performs the scale.

The round-off dismount is demonstrated by Lezlie Eland.

Connie Lane displayed excellent skill throughout the year on the uneven bars.

Janey Dunlevy performs on the tramp.

Tim and Joyce Hellkamp were the only brother-sister duo in sports

GIRLS' TRACK: L. Best, S. Boyd, D. Dickinson. ROW 2: J. Hunerdosse, J. Kessel, J. Dunlevy, B. Maddix, C. Lane; ROW 3: S. Smith, C. Wahrer, D. Nelson, M. Drish, B. Kennedy, J. Fritz.

Four returning letter girls held the high spots on the tennis team: Paula Becksfort, Mary Lou Graf, Sherry Vander Hamm, and Cindy Dunlevy. The girls began their season early with an April 6 meet with Burlington. In addition to participating in District competition, the team compiled a 1-9 overall record.

The girls' track team broke two school records in their opening meet with Lamoni and this seemed to set the pace for the remainder of the season, as the team set a total of twenty new records by the close of the season.

team rounded out their schedule with a first place at the Washington Invitational and District competition, and second place at Ft. Madison and in Conference action. In addition several members were invited to participate in the Drake Relays. These girls were: Janey Dunlevy and Jan Hunerdosse in individual events, and a relay team of Janey Dunlevy, Susie Egli, Jane Kessel, and Connie Lane.

At the close of the year, Janey Dunlevy was awarded the first annual Debbie Crew Trophy for the Most Outstanding Girl Athlete. Joy Fulton served as captain of the successful '72 track team.

Go placidly amid the noise and haste,
And remember what peace there may be in silence.
As far as possible without surrender
Be on good terms with all persons.
Speak your truth quietly and clearly;
And listen to others, even the dull and ignorant;
They too have their story.
Avoid loud and aggressive persons,
They are vexations to the spirit.
If you compare yourself with others,
You may become vain and bitter;
For always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself.
Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.
Keep interested in your own career, however humble;
It is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time.
Exercise caution in your business affairs,
For the world is full of trickery.
But let this not blind you to what virtue there is;
Many persons strive for high ideals;
And everywhere life is full of heroism.
Be yourself.
Especially do not feign affection.

Neither be cynical about love,
For in the face of all aridity and disenchantment

It is perennial as the grass.
Take kindly the counsel of the years,
Gracefully surrendering the things of youth.
Nurture strength of spirit
To shield you in sudden misfortune.
But do not distress yourself with imagining.
Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness.
Beyond a wholesome discipline
Be gentle with yourself.
You are a child of the universe,
No less than the trees and the stars;
You have a right to be here.
And whether or not it is clear to you,
No doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.
Therefore be at peace with God,
Whatever you conceive him to be.
And whatever your labors and aspirations,
In the noisy confusion of life
Keep peace with your soul.
With all its sham, drudgery, and broken dreams,
It is still a beautiful world.
Be careful.
Strive to be happy.

A dripping wet Fairfield football coach Pearl Smith inned Friday night and said, "We're gonna get better.
he main thing is we've got to think we're good, and we will be." Coach Smith, who had just been thrown in the shower by his jubilant players got a superb example of positive thinking as the Trojans earned a 14-0 Homecoming victory over Washington.
